(Trenton) The New Jersey Association of Counties (NJAC) is hosting its 64th annual celebration of county government from May 7th through May 9th at Caesar's in Atlantic City.

“As the role of county government continues to grow as an innovator in delivering essential services in a cost effective manner, we expect to host an outstanding convention with over 500 county and business leaders from all twenty-one counties in attendance,” said NJAC President and Monmouth County Clerk Claire French.

Please visit www.njac.org for additional details about this highly-anticipated event featuring: Lieutenant Governor Kim Guadagno as the keynote speaker; a spirited legislative leadership panel discussion with Senator Jim Whelan, Senator Joseph Kyrillos, Assemblyman Declan O'Scanlon, Assemblyman John Wisniewski, and NJ 101.5's Kevin McArdle as moderator; and, two dozen educational workshops approved for professional development credits. This year's convention is also home to the nation's only county vocational-technical school cook-off challenge, where culinary arts students from across the State will compete for coveted titles in taste, creativity, and food presentation.

“In addition to these terrific programs and events, our annual celebration of county government will provide county decision makers with the unique opportunity to share valuable resources and ideas. I'm also excited about the opportunity to sample all of the wonderful dishes prepared by the remarkable young men and women at cook-off challenge.” commented French.

NJAC is committed to advocating for legislation, regulations, and policy directives that empower county governments to operate more effectively and efficiently. As a non-partisan organization that represents the only true regional form of government in the State with a unified and proactive voice, NJAC is dedicated to advancing innovative programs and initiatives that enhance the level of service provided and save valuable taxpayer dollars.
